Zambia.
Southern Rhodesia, Northern Rhodesia, and Nyasaland were united in 1953 to form the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland; the Federation was dissolved in Dec. 1963. On July 6, 1964, Nyasaland was granted independence and name changed to Malawi; on Oct. 24, 1964, Northern Rhodesia was granted independence and name changed to Zambia. Following the change of name of Northern Rhodesia, Southern Rhodesia adopted the name Rhodesia and, on April 18, 1980, the name Zimbabwe.
Works by Southern Rhodesia (including those published 1964-1980 under its adopted name Rhodesia) are found under
Southern Rhodesia.
Works by Zimbabwe are found under
Zimbabwe.
Works by the other 3 jurisdictions published before the changes in 1964 are found under Nyasaland.

Northern Rhodesia.
Rhodesia and Nyasaland.
Works by Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia published after the changes in 1964 are found under

Zambia Library Association.
In Nov. 1959 the Central African Branch of the South African Library Association became the Library Association of Rhodesia and Nyasaland. The name was changed in Feb. 1964 to Library Association of Central Africa. In early 1967 members from Zambia formed the Zambia Library Association; and in Apr. 1967 those remaining reorganized as the Rhodesia Library Association.
Works by these bodies are found under the following headings according to the name used at the time of publication:
South African Library Association. Central African Branch.
Library Association of Rhodesia and Nyasaland.
Library Association of Central Africa.
Zambia Library Association.
Rhodesia Library Association.
SUBJECT ENTRY: Works about these bodies are entered under one or more of the names resulting from the separation. Works limited in coverage to the pre-separation period are entered under the name of the original body. In the case of change of name entry is made under the name used during the latest period covered.

Bremer Flugzeugbau was founded in 1923, and changed its name in the same year to Focke-Wulf Flugzeugbau AG. In 1937, it became the Focke-Wulf Flugzeugbau G.m.b.H., Bremen.
After the war, the company resumed its activities in 1951 under the name of Focke-Wulf G.m.b.H. It merged with Weser-Flugzeugbau G.m.b.H. in 1963 to become the Vereinigte Flugtechnische Werke. In the winter of 1969/70 the company merged with Koninklijke Nederlandse Vliegtuigenfabriek Fokker, N.V., which had been founded in 1919 under the name of Nederlandsche Vliegtuigenfabriek N.V., and had later changed its name to Nederlandsche Vliegtuigenfabriek Fokker, N.V. At the time of the 1969/70 merger, the company changed its name to Zentralgesellschaft VFW-Fokker m.b.H.
Works by the Koninklijke Nederlandse Vliegtuigenfabriek Fokker, N.V. published under its earlier names are found under Koninklijke Nederlandse Vliegtuigenfabriek Fokker, N.V.
Works by the other bodies are found under the name used at the time of publication.

SUBJECT ENTRY: Works about these bodies are entered under the name or names in existence during the latest period for which subject coverage is given. In the case where the required name is represented in this catalog only under a later form of the name, entry is made under the later form.

Zimbabwe.
Southern Rhodesia, Northern Rhodesia, and Nyasaland were united in 1953 to form the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland; the Federation was dissolved in Dec. 1963. On July 6, 1964, Nyasaland was granted independence and name changed to Malawi; on Oct. 24, 1964, Northern Rhodesia was granted independence and name changed to Zambia. Following the change of name of Northern Rhodesia, Southern Rhodesia adopted the name Rhodesia and, on April 18, 1980, the name Zimbabwe.
Works by Southern Rhodesia (including those published 1964-1980 under its adopted name Rhodesia) are found under
Southern Rhodesia.
Works by Zimbabwe are found under
Zimbabwe.
Works by the other 3 jurisdictions published before the changes in 1964 are found under Nyasaland.
Northern Rhodesia.

Rhodesia and Nyasaland.
Works by Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia published after the changes in 1964 are found under Malawi.
Zambia.
SUBJECT ENTRY: Works about these jurisdictions are normally entered under Malawi, Zambia, and/or Zimbabwe, regardless of period covered. However, works limited in subject coverage to the historical, political, or cultural aspects of these jurisdictions for the 1953-1963 period are entered under Rhodesia and Nyasaland, while works limited in subject coverage to these same aspects of Northern Rhodesia and Southern Rhodesia collectively for the pre-1953 period are entered under Rhodesia.

Zimbardo, Philip G
Shyness clinic. [Sound recording] By Philip G. Zimbardo. New York, Biomonitoring Applications, p1978. T-200.
1 cassette.
Presentation, made at a conference entitled Taking charge of your own life, held in Palo Alto, Calif., Oct. 21-22, 1977.
Sponsored by the Institute for the Advancement of Human Behavior.
Duration: 59 min., 30 sec.

SUMMARY: Dr. Zimbardo attempts to help people overcome shyness by role playing, getting them to face their fears and unrealistically high expectations, finding their best qualities, and sharing them with others. Shyness clinic exercises are also conducted to help people work on their anxiety.

Zimbardo, Philip G
Shyness—what is it?; what to do about it. [Sound recording] By Philip G. Zimbardo. New York, Biomonitoring Applications, p1978. T-207.
1 cassette.
Presentation, made at a conference entitled Taking charge of your own life, held in Palo Alto, Calif., Oct. 21-22, 1977.
Sponsored by the Institute for the Advancement of Human Behavior.
Duration: 1 hr., 18 sec.

SUMMARY: Dr. Zimbardo explains how an individual cannot be shy and free at the same time and that shyness means surrendering the complex actions of life for the illusion of security through dependence. He emphasizes the danger of shyness in that it allows for manipulation by conditioning through simple reinforcement rather than a matter of making conscious choices.
